ABSTRACT

This bibliography provides descriptions and contact information regarding resources produced by American and Canadian family day care training projects and other educational organizations for agencies working with Spanish-speaking family day care providers. Included are resources in the following areas: (1) "Recruitment Resources"; (2) "Family Day Care Training Manuals"; (3) "Licensing, Regulations, and Business Aspects of Family Day Care"; (4) "Health and Safety"; (5) "Food and Nutrition"; (6) "Working with Parents"; (7) "Working with Children"; and (8) "Resources for Programs Supporting Spanish-Speaking Family Day Care Programs." A list of magazines with articles in Spanish, organizations with resources in Spanish, and order forms in Spanish and English complete the document. (KDFB)

The California Child Care Initiative

The California Child Care Initiative was created in 1985 to address the shortage of licensed, quality child care in California communities. Developed in collaboration with the BankAmerica Foundation, the Initiative is administered by the California Child Care Resource and Referral Network (Network), a nonprofit support organization for California's 65 state-funded, community-based child care resource and referral (R&R) agencies. Today, the Initiative is the largest public-private venture in the country for increasing the supply of quality child care, with over 400 funders and over $6.2 million in contributions.

Agencies that participate in the Initiative are funded to recruit individuals who are interested in becoming licensed family day care providers and to train them to deliver quality care. Thirty-one R&Rs in 25 California counties have recruited over 3,800 licensed providers, creating over 15,000 new child care slots since 1985. Over 25,000 providers have attended classes on how to effectively manage a small business and on child development practices. The Network manages the Initiative's day-to-day activities, provides training and technical assistance to the R&Rs, and monitors and reports on their performance. The Network has produced an integrated package of publications for family day care providers including recruitment brochures and posters, a training manual and other materials.

We have created this bibliography after an exhaustive national literature search. It was created as part of a comprehensive package of resources for all agencies that work with Spanish-speaking family day care providers, including:

- "Dé a sus niños la comodidad de un hogar" ("Give your children the comforts of home") and "Abra su casa, Abra su corazón" ("Open your home, Open your heart"), two brochures in camera-ready format which provide space for agencies to add their phone number and address. One brochure for parents and another for providers highlight the benefits of licensed family day care. (IN SPANISH)

- El comienzo ("The beginning"), a kit of practical resources which provides the tools a provider needs in order to become licensed and stay in business. The kit includes articles by the Child Care Law Center, BANANAS, Tom Copeland and other child care experts on becoming licensed, managing a small business and providing a safe and quality program. (IN SPANISH)

- Esto es familiar: Una guía para el cuidado infantil hogareño ("It's a family affair: A guide to family day care in your home"), is a companion resource to El comienzo. This introductory guide provides information for the newly licensed family day care provider and addresses issues specifically facing Latino providers. (IN SPANISH)

- A trainer's guide to El comienzo & Esto es familiar: Keys to training Spanish-speaking family day care providers offers a step-by-step guide for planning and conducting trainings for Latino providers. (IN ENGLISH)

- Developing family day care in Latino communities: Experiences of the California Child Care Initiative, a report on the two-year project to recruit, train and support Spanish-speaking family day care providers. The report includes recommendations for successful application and key elements necessary for adaptation of the Initiative model in the Latino community. (IN ENGLISH)

We would like to acknowledge and thank the funders of the Initiative for making our work possible, along with the many agencies who have generously given their technical assistance and support in helping us develop our project. We hope this bibliography will be of assistance to you.

RECURSOS/RESOURCES

A Bibliography of
Spanish-Language Family Day Care Training Materials

California Child Care Initiative

This bibliography lists materials in Spanish which have been produced by family day care training projects and other educational organizations in the United States and Canada. While a number of excellent child development books and other educational materials have been translated or produced by publishing houses in Spain and Latin America, these were not within the scope of our project; check with libraries and/or Spanish-language bookstores in your area for information on such materials.

For information about availability and price of the following materials and how to order them, please contact the source listed. If you are aware of additional resources which should be added to this list, please contact us at the California Child Care Resource and Referral Network. Please note that the presence of an item on this list does not guarantee its appropriateness for your training project, or for the particular needs of the Spanish-speaking community in your area. All resources are in Spanish unless otherwise noted.
